

Police Chief Kenneth McCoy response

The claims in Mr. Henke's letter are categorically false, defamatory, and wholly unsupported by facts. At no time have I, nor any member of the Tempe Police Department under my direction, provided ACJIS or any other law enforcement-sensitive information to the City Manager, Deputy City Manager, or any unauthorized individual for political purposes or selective enforcement. To state otherwise is not only baseless, but also a reckless distortion that undermines the integrity of public safety professionals across this state.

Mr. Henke's narrative includes outrageous fabrications and misleading assertions regarding the operations of the Tempe Police Department and the conduct of City leadership. The allegations that our department has engaged in unlawful tracking, misuse of confidential information, or the politicization of police resources are offensive, unfounded, and in direct contradiction to our agency's policies, oversight mechanisms, and long-standing commitment to ethical policing.

The suggestion that I "systematized" the disclosure of ACJIS information is not only false, but also a malicious attempt to tarnish my character and that of the dedicated men and women I serve alongside. Like all complex organizations, we continuously evaluate and strengthen our practices related to the use and protection of sensitive law enforcement data.

For more than 30 years, I have served with integrity, honor, and a steadfast commitment to the law. As Chief of Police, I will not allow false accusations to stand unchallenged, especially those that malign the professionalism of our department and suggest impropriety where none exists.
