Christine –

I hope this email finds you well.

Do you know if the county has considered or made indoor air quality investments/enhancements? I know several counties in Florida (like Gulf County) are driving forward on this in congregate settings like court houses, administrative buildings, senior living centers, etc. I am working with a company, Aerus (www.activepure.com), that is in this space. They are active at the county level (and also installed across the private sector, including with the Houston Astros). I am hoping to setup an introduction with the county manager and/or team to discuss. I think there will be interest from the practical application of a healthier work environment (and associated tangible benefits) to energy cost savings, etc.

Thank you!

Commissioner Pendergrass,

My name is Bill Hoge. I'm based here in south Florida & a partner in a company named solar mobility USA. We deploy a rapid response trailer with many assets needed after a catastrophic event. We have been working with many other states on this in recent times. I have attached a marketing piece that explains these things.

We have several trailers ready for deployment after Hurricane Ian makes its path north.

Please call with any questions and please forward this to any parties you see fit.

I hope you and your family are safe. I wanted to see if you're available to talk to CBS National News tonight near the top of the 8PM ET hour to discuss what is happening in Lee County. We'd need 5-7 minutes of your time live via Zoom or over the phone with John Dickerson.

I'm happy to answer any questions you have - thank you in advance for your time and consideration at this very difficult time.

Best regards,
