

“The issues you raise in your story are simply allegations from a lawsuit brought by a former patient seeking money damages. In fairness to all those involved in the case, we will honor the civil judicial process and allow the jury to hear all the evidence at trial, and not try our case in the media. We have no further comment.” -Julie Warren

“Thank you for reaching out. Because it is not appropriate to publicly comment on pending litigation, nor to reference matters subject to Court protective orders, Dr. Punjwani declines your request for an interview. Rather, we will continue to respect the Court’s guidance and address the full evidence at trial, rather than respond in the media.” -Kari Hershey
