Statement from Rob Andrews, Aurora City Councilmember At-Large Elect

Aurora City Councilmember At-Large Elect Rob Andrews wins against all odds and declares victory in At-Large race

“Aurora – we did it.

Last night, Aurora made history. Voters across our city stood up, spoke out, and chose hope over fear, progress over division, and community over chaos.

I am deeply humbled to have been elected as your next At-Large Councilmember – and even more proud that every single aligned candidate on the ballot won their race. Together, we built a people-powered movement that no amount of dark money or negativity could stop.

What we lacked in dollars, we made up for in determination. We made up for it with neighbors who knocked doors in the cold, volunteers who called until the last minute, and families who believed that Aurora deserves a government as good as its people. Aurora saw through the noise – the signs, the attack ads, the politics – and chose compassion, integrity, and unity instead.

My platform was developed after years of serving and working all across Aurora with a diverse array of working families, organizations, and community leaders. These experiences helped me shape a vision for a city rooted in economic opportunity for all, attainable and affordable housing, and community-based public safety. These aren't just policy priorities, but a promise to build an Aurora where everyone has the chance to thrive.

This victory isn't just about changing who sits on the council. It's about changing how Aurora governs – through collaboration, empathy, and accountability. It's about building a city where every resident feels heard, valued, and safe. Our diversity of experience, perspective, and belief is what makes us strong. It's what defines us as the most diverse city in the state – and it's what will carry Aurora into a new era of leadership.

To every endorser, donor, campaign staffer, and volunteer who gave their time, heart, and hope to this effort – thank you. This win belongs to you. You proved that when we come together, listen to one another, and fight for what's right, we win.

A new era of leadership has begun in Aurora. Let's get to work, together!"

About Rob Andrews: Rob Andrews is a nonprofit leader, father, and lifelong community advocate dedicated to making Aurora a city that works for everyone. A graduate of Hastings College, where he studied psychology and religion, Rob now serves on the Hastings College Board of Trustees.

As a lifelong nonprofit leader dedicated to giving people a second chance at life, Rob has led initiatives that have helped tens of thousands of Coloradans access skilled career paths, expanded youth empowerment programs, advanced restorative justice, and improved access to mental health resources. His leadership is rooted in empathy, collaboration, and the belief that government should serve the people – not special interests.

As Aurora's newest At-Large Councilmember-elect, Rob is committed to leading with heart, bridging divides, and ensuring every community has a voice in shaping Aurora's future.
